Located at the foot of the Black Forest, Freiburg is nestled in the southwest corner of Germany near the Swiss and French borders.

The city can be reached easily by train. Discounted Deutsche Bahn train tickets are available here for our festival goers. Cheaper options include a FlixBus/FlixTrain connection or a ride via blablacar.

The closest airport is EuroAirport Basel/Mulhouse. From there, you can take a shuttle bus to Freiburg central train station. Alternatively, train or bus connections from the Frankfurt and Zurich airports are also quite manageable.

Getting There

Freiburg is a city of mad cyclists. It has a well established network of cycle paths and several bike-rental options (such as Radstation near the central train station or the public rental service Frelö). The nearest Frelö station is right next to the festival venue.

It is also very easy to get around by tram (VAG) or on foot.

Getting Around

Accommodation

We recommend booking your accommodation early. Affordable options include the Black Forest Hostel and the DJH Youth Hostel.

Outdoor enthusiasts can find camping sites not too far from the festival venue, including Camping Möselepark and Camping Hirzberg.

In addition, Freiburg has a lively Couchsurfing community and many AirBnB accommodations.

Many local students share their apartments during the festival week. Contact us via students@freiburger-filmforum.de and we will gladly put you in touch with one of them.
