MORE THAN 50 FILMS IN 10 DAYS

Freiburger Filmforum – Festival of Transcultural Cinema celebrates its 20th edition!

This year the Freiburger Filmforum dares to look ahead and question the future(s) in diverse ways. Images of the present will serve as an interface to the future, as a vivid living space in which one can move in a creative way today. This year's program showcases artistic works that explore this engagement with potential futures, often conveying a palpable sense of resistance to dystopian realities.

FILMING FUTURES, curated by Emergent Futures CoLab, explores ways in which film might provide us with opportunities to intervene, provoke and/or collaborate around imagining and performing new futures. Saul Williams and Anisia Uzeyman's fantastic musical feature Neptune Frost sets the tone for the series HACKING TIME MINES that includes afrofuturist visionary Sun Ra's brilliant sci-fi classic Space is the Place. Expanding the main section's contribution, THE FUTURE IN TODAY features highlights of international festivals exploring present-day future scenarios which already unfold in the here-and-now.

Two documentary series travel from Siberia to the Amazon featuring strong social concerns: FAMILIES IN FOCUS is a film section that portrays families in times of radical uncertainty and crisis through an intimate lens. VEINS OF LIFE: Routes, paths, and trails are the main protagonists of this collection. Films of setting out, wandering, wondering, stagnation, and arrival.

Unusual perspectives and personal approaches characterize the line-up of the STUDENTS' PLATFORM. Hand-picked from over 300 submissions, this section showcases a diverse selection of 16 international debut and student films of all lengths, shot in 14 countries. The program is accompanied by a rich WORKSHOP SERIES on current themes in documentary filmmaking and visual anthropology.

The exhibition WITCHES IN EXILE, taking place at the Centre Culturel Français, portrays women from Ghana who are stigmatised and outcast as witches. It is accompanied by the film Ordalies, le tribunal de l'invisible and a panel talk.

Co-curating and exchanging programs with other cultural institutions as well as connecting with audiences and curators worldwide is the aim of our #JUNCTIONS format. Together with our partners Conflictorium and NID in Ahmedabad and docubox in Nairobi, we are experimenting with synchronized screenings and joint film discussions.

Parts of the festival program will be LIVE STREAMED from the cinema with the option to participate in the film talks via Zoom.

Join us for 10 days of international film talks, exciting encounters, and inspiring exchanges!

See you soon in the cinema.
